

Would you like to borrow an iPad for a week?

An iPad in a clinical setting provides instant mobile access to current information. The iPad will make it easy to collaborate with colleagues remotely, and access important information wherever your work takes you without having to look for a workstation. Check drug interactions, medical images, access medical databases, access ebooks and e journals (Athens password required), show patients illustrations/pictures and information, use online training packages. Carrying an iPad gives you the Internet and its wealth of resources and information at your fingertips.
